Yyyyyy Numb. 3713.

The Daily Courant.

Monday, September 7. 1713.

London, September 7.

On Saturday arrived the Mails from Holland and Flanders of Tuesday last.

From the Hague Courant, dated Sept. 11.

Leghorne, August 21.

HERE are Letters of the 10th of this Month from Catalonia, which give an Account, that the Spanish Army consisted then of no more than 13000 Men, which lay encamped before Barcelona; from whom the Volunteers and Miquelets took many Prisoners daily, but gave no Quarter to the Castilians, though they did to the French, which last used the Catalonians in the same Manner. The Imperial Troops which were left behind, lay the 10th along the River and about Tortosa, but 'twas not known when they would imbark. The Spaniards who were among them, had most of them taken Service under the Catalonians. The Populace of Barcelona grew more and more heartened by the lying still of the Spaniards, and daily brought Men over to their Party. They hoped likewise for Help from abroad, and promised themselves some Barks from Naples laden with Provisions, under the Convoy of two Neapolitan Men of War of 40 Guns each. Mean while the French take the Ships of that Nation, and the Neapolitans as well as the Majoreans take the French Ships; so that we look upon the Treaty of Neutrality for Italy to be broken on both Sides.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated Sept. 12.

Leghorne, Aug. 20. Here lye two Majorcan Ships, which have bought 12000 Measures of Corn, and are taking it on Board with Design to carry it to Barcelona.

From the Brussels Gazette, dated Sept. 12.

From the Camp at Mulhberg, Sept. 4. Upon the Advice we had some Days ago that the Marshal de Villars had called in all his Sauveguardes, and ordered the neighbouring Bailliages to bring to his Camp Forrage for several Days, Prince Eugene of Savoy has taken so good Precautions, that we flatter our selves we may be able to hinder the Enemy's passing the Rhine, and to oppose their Enterprizes on our Lines or elsewhere. For this End his Highness has caused the Imperial Infantry to march higher up the Rhine, and the Troops of Hanover Wolfembuttel and Prussia to move up this Way from Mentz, and has assigned them their Posts along the Rhine. The Imperial Regiment of Maximilian Staremberg from Italy is arrived in this Camp; as also that of Regal; that of Hautois has stopped at Heppingen; that of Harrach of 2500 Men, arrived the 2d of this Month in General Vaubonne's Camp under the Cannon of Fribourg, where that of Wachtendonk was expected the next Day. Men are kept hard at Work to perfect our Lines in the Black Forrest.

Gernsheim, Sept. 5. The Imperial Infantry having decamped from the Posts they were possessed of in our Neighbourhood and marched higher up, 15 Battallions of them came back Yesterday for the Security of the Line here, where the Battallions of Munster are expected to Day or to Morrow. The Hanoverian Foot having passed the Maine at Costheim, and pursued their March higher up towards the Army, the Prussian Troops are come into their Camp between Mosbach and Cassel, and the Hessians are approaching likewise. The Count du Bourg and M. de St. Fremont, who within these few Days were out to get a View of the Lines towards the Mountain of Etlingen or the Spessert, are marched with their Body of Men and 40 Field-Pieces towards Fort-Louis, where the Enemy seem to intend to pass the Rhine. The Marshal de Bezons arrived the 3d Instant at Lauterbourg, near which Place encamp a great Part of the Enemy's Cavalry; and 'tis strongly reported that the Enemy have ready loaded on Waggons a sufficient Number of Boats to lay three Bridges at once over the Rhine, designing to attack our Lines, whither Prince Eugene of Savoy has given Order for good Part of his Army to draw, and 'tis not doubted that if the Enemy should attempt to pass a great Battle will ensue.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 12.

From the Camp at Muhlburg, Sept. 5. Deserters and all our Spies agree in reporting that the Enemy design to come over the River and attack our Lines in three several Places, viz. by the Spessert which is a Mountain near Etlingen, by Daxland, and by another Place below Manheim.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 12.

From the Camp at Mulhberg, Sept. 5. The greatest Part of the Enemy's Army lies encamped from Germersheim to Lauterbourg, and is provided with Pontons for passing the Rhine in several Places at once. Prince Eugene has taken all possible Precautions not to be Surprized: General Vaubonne has no less than 20000 Men with him under the Cannon of Fribourg; so that the Enemy cannot come at it to besiege it, without hazarding a Battle, which Prince Eugene will not refuse. Prince Alexander of Wirtemberg is set out for the Court of Vienna.

From the Hague Courant, dated Sept. 12.

Francfort, Sept. 7. All our Advices agree that the French chuse rather to come to a general Battle than to undertake a second Siege; and the Marshal de Villars has full Orders from Court to put it to the Venture. The Duke of Marlborough is preparing to remove from hence with his Family next Sunday, to pass the Winter at Antwerp.

From the Imperial Camp at Muhlburg, Sept. 4. 'Yesterday we received Advice, that the Enemy 'had in all Haste taken out of the Rhine the Boats 'which they had got together near Lauterbourg 'and Stein-maer, and that they had loaded 180 'upon Waggons. It was reported that the Ene'my's Army put themselves in Motion the 2d of 'this Month; but just now we have certain Ad'vice that their Camp at Frankenthal and at Spire 'is still as it was, and that the rest of their Troops 'have posted themselves along the Rhine, between 'Germersheim and Lauterbourg. The same Ad'vice assures us, that in 2 or 3 Days their Army 'will march. In the mean while Prince Eugene 'has given Order that the Infantry which are com'ing from Mentz and that Way, shall approach as 'near to our Army as Graben.

Hague, Sept. 12. 'The Plenipotentiaries of Spain 'went back from hence Yesterday to Utrecht, whi'ther those of the States General are going, and 'the Earl of Strafford will follow them to Morrow 'or next Day. The first thing done there will be 'exchanging the Ratifications of the Treaty of 'Peace between Spain and Great Britain, after 'which the Earl of Strafford proposes to use his 'Endeavours to forward the Peace between Spain 'and Portugal, which will not be easy because of 'the Difficulties that still obstruct it. The Treaty 'between Spain and this State continues suspended 'till the Return of the Express sent to Spain: In 'the mean time a certain Minister appears dissatis'fied that the Conclusion of it should be stopped, 'on Account of the Guarantie which Spain de'mands for the Sovereignty that is to be bestowed 'on the Princess Ursini, which Article he says is 'but a Trifle in Comparison of what this Common'wealth loses in its Trade by the Delay: But the 'States consider, that if they should agree to this 'Guarantie, it might embroil them with the Em'peror, which they will not in any Manner give 'Occasion for, but will avoid if possible. The 'same Minister pretends to have Advice, that the

'Army

Army of France will not undertake any more Sieges in Germany this Year, but will attempt to make themselves Masters of the Lines, and the French he says do not in the least doubt the Success of this Enterprize, because it will be very difficult for the Army of the Emperour and Empire to defend so great an Extent of Lines against a Superiority of above 50000 Men; and indeed France would reap more Advantage from the taking of those Lines, than the Reduction of any Place else. The great Reform of all the Regiments, as well Foot as Horse, in the Service of this State, was made last Week; by which the Companies of Foot are reduced each to 45 Men, and every Troop of Horse to 31: The King of Prussia has engaged all the best of the Foot which were cashiered here to list into his Service. Prince Kurackin has signified here, that whereas the Queen of Great-Britain as well as the States-General have caused to be offered to the Czar and his Allies as also to the King of Sweden their Interposition and Mediation, he has received Order from his Czarian Majesty to declare that he accepts that Mediation, but that at the same time he desires the Emperour as well as his Electoral Highness of Hanover may have Part in it, because his Allies the King of Denmark and the King of Poland being Members of the Empire, cannot well exclude his Imperial Majesty with respect to the Conditions in which they are to be concerned.
